RelateNow.com is an Internet-based software system that helps therapy providers deliver more cost-effective services for children with Autism and related disorders. We do this by offering organizations tools that enable staff and caregivers the ability to provide a greater level of support to advance the shared goals of a child's therapy program.

Assess and plan

Provide input about a child's strengths and weaknesses related to autism symptoms, and RelateNow will guide you through creating individually tailored goals and objectives to create a customized treatment plan.

Implement therapy plans

RelateNow suggests activities, strategies and online video training programs about options on delivering therapy to advance a child's treatment goals. It also ranks activities and strategies that have been rated as most effective by parents and therapists working with children who have similar profiles.

Track and demonstrate progress

Clients understandably want to see progress as a result of children's participation in Autism therapy. RelateNow offers interactive tools to follow a child's progress and determine "what's working best" to reach his or her therapy goals.

Educate and train

Better trained staff and clients make it easier to deliver effective therapy for children with Autism. RelateNow provides your organization access to an extensive database of training programs, strategies and activities to help your therapists and clients through access to materials that can improve the way they interact with children. Or, you can upload your own training materials into the system to complement or substitute for the current database of information. The system will facilitate distribution of your materials and assure that only your most up-to-date material is in circulation.

Link families and professionals

Despite best intentions, often families and service providers don't communicate enough to deliver coordinated care. RelateNow allows you to create an optional collaborative environment so parents and professionals can work together to improve therapeutic outcomes.

Build your practice and serve hard-to-reach families

Using a Web-based system that is available anywhere there is access to the Internet allows your organization to more easily serve families at a distance whether they are in remote, rural areas or simply outside of your existing service area.

Offers only the services you want - when you want them

RelateNow has been created so organizations can optionally select to use only the services that make the most sense for their clinical practice. And – if you change your mind and want to turn on more services later – RelateNow can adapt to your changing needs.

CUSTOMIZED SERVICES

You can activate only the services you want and turn on more services later to adapt to your changing business needs.
